Evergreen Marine Corp, the long-term charterer of ULCV Ever Given, has said that the vessel was expected to arrive at its first port of call, Rotterdam's Delta Terminal, on July 28th. There it will discharge some long-awaited four-months-delayed cargo, including transshipment boxes. It will then head for the port's Euromax Terminal, where on August 2nd it will discharge Hamburg-bound cargo for transshipment. Ever Given will head immediately to Felixstowe to discharge cargo for the UK.

All transshipment cargo will be loaded onto the Ever Utile at Rotterdam's Delta and Euromax terminals. Evergreen said the vessel's Hamburg call would be omitted, in accordance with the ship's seaworthiness certificate, which has also directed the vessel to sail at lower speeds.
